

FAQ's - Seating

Q. Which way does my seat face?

A. If you are on ground, all seats face the main stage. If you are in the stands, all seats face the arena.

Q. Which way do the seats run?

A. If you are on ground, all seats run from right to left as you face the stage – i.e. Seat 1 will be on the right side of the block. If you are in the stands, all seats run from left to right as you face the stage – i.e. Seat 1 will be on the left side of the block.

Q. I am in row AA; does this mean I am at the front of the block?

A. On ground seating: All blocks run from A – Z and some blocks will then continue to AA, BB, CC, etc.

Stand seating: Most blocks run from A – Z and some will continue to AA, BB, CC etc. The following blocks start at AA: 103 – 113, 208 – 218 and 306 – 313.

If you are in the stands most blocks will be the same as the grounds however the following block start at AA:

Q. How many seats are in each row?

A. Each block is different. However there are generally around 20 – 30 seats per row. Please refer to the seating map.

Q. My seats are not directly near either of the stages, will I still have a good view of the stages?

A. Yes, while you may not have an up close view of the stage, you will have an overall view and will be able to see the full effects of the concert.

Q. Are there barriers separating each block?

A. No, there are no barriers separating each block. We will have event staff and security in place to ensure everyone stays in their area.

Q. Are the seats on the ground elevated?

A. No, all seats on ground are at ground level.

Q. Why is the on ground seating area not filled with seating?

A. The ground is not filled with seating as fans would have difficulty viewing the stage from a distance on ground level. The concert layout has been designed to provide the best possible experience for fans.
