

Sock it to Sarcoma!

IMPROVING OUTCOMES BY

- Funding medical research into sarcoma, a rare and aggressive group of primary bone & soft tissue tumours
- Better understanding for sarcoma families through community awareness
- Facilitating information and educational opportunities for health professionals and the community
- Promoting gold standard holistic clinical care and wellbeing support for people impacted by sarcoma
- Advocating for the sarcoma community

ABBIE BASSON

was diagnosed with metastatic Ewing's Sarcoma in May 2009, at the age of 17.

She was determined to make a difference for others diagnosed with sarcoma through her vision 'Sock it to Sarcoma!'. She chose 'odd socks' as the identifier: an easy way to show support but symbolic of the risk of amputation often faced by those diagnosed with sarcoma and also of the translocation of chromosomes 11 and 22 in Ewing's Sarcoma.

She wanted anyone who was diagnosed with sarcoma to have access to the best treatment and support and for research to take place to help find a cure.

Please help us to fulfill this inspirational young woman's dream and commitment to the community.
